

HELPED TO RESCUE TRAVELER IN WILDS

Washingtonian Lauded as Hero
by Emory C. Kolb, Who Was Near Death in Canyon.

Conrad Chaney, of 315 F street northeast, is named as a hero in one of the thrilling tales of adventure which Emory C. Kolb, photographer-traveler, related today to a Times reporter. Kolb and his brother, E. L. Kolb, are the first men to accomplish the dangerous feat of getting motion pictures of the Grand Canyon. Their views show a remarkably beautiful canyon, heretofore depicted only in a few still-life pictures.

Kolb declares that Chaney's aid on October 16, 1912, was one of the links of a chain which saved his life. The Kolb brothers had completed their five months' trip through the Grand Canyon touching six States in 1,000 miles and descending 6,000 feet over 200 rapids in open boats. This trip in itself, Kolb declares, is more perilous than an Arctic expedition.

Camping out in the canyon in the fall, Kolb went into the river with an open boat, which was swamped in the terrible current of Bright Angel Trail. Part of the wreckage struck him on the back, pinning him against a rock and leaving him helpless for hours.

Chaney To Rescue.

It was in this situation that Chaney's help was given. Tourists passing Bright Angel Trail carried the news of Kolb's plight seven miles, climbing 4,500 feet to a hotel.

Hotel men and guides worked all day without success. Chaney was one of the men to carry the news and to take part in the thrilling rescue afterward.

Kolb's brother, aided by Chaney and another man, climbed over the plateau, 1,500 feet high, near Bright Angel trail, reaching the place of the accident at dark. E. L. Kolb then tied life-preservers to his body and swung out at the end of a rope into the swirling rapids, landing luckily on a rock forty feet above where the injured man lay.

Then E. L. Kolb shot a line and pulled his brother to safety, and pulled him upstream to safety. The wife and baby of the rescued man watched the ordeal.

This incident is only one of a hundred that the daring brothers had in their eleven years of life in the Grand Canyon. They have often taken their lives in their hands in their travels, but always got what they went after—the marvelous pictures of rugged canyon walls, clouds in the canyon looking like the roaring waters above Niagara, uncharted waterfalls, giant mountains—all scenes of striking beauty.

Afraid of Canyon.

Kolb says that eight men refused to make the trip through the canyon which Major Powell, for the Government, first attempted. At last in despair of getting enough men with nerve, the Kolbs set out with only one companion and en-

CHURCH PLANS FOR ANNIVERSARY FETE

Many Pastors to Speak at Celebration of Birthday of Alexandria Institution—Motor Boat Club Plans New Clubhouse—Other News of Vicinity.

WASHINGTON TIMES BUREAU, ALEXANDRIA, VA., APRIL 17.—The program for the celebration of the one hundred and thirty-ninth birthday of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, one of the oldest of the denomination in America, to take place from April 27 to May 2, was announced today by the Rev. C. A. Luttrell, pastor of the church. Some of the best known preachers in this section will officiate, and a musical program has been prepared.

Sunday morning, April 27, Bishop Cranston will preach the opening sermon. The evening of the same day the Rev. Guy Hobbes will hold an old-time love feast and deliver a sermon. All the Methodist pastors of the city will take part in the services and make addresses Monday, April 28. Their congregations have been invited. The choir of the Southern Methodist Church will probably supply the music.

Tuesday night, Dr. Don S. Cull, of Baltimore, will preach. Wednesday night the Rev. J. Shera Montgomery, pastor of the Metropolitan M. E. Church of Washington, will officiate, and Thursday Dr. C. M. Mott, recently called to Calvary Church, New York, will be the preacher. The closing service will be delivered by Frederick W. Wedderburn, pastor of Foundry Church, of Washington.

At the close of the meeting of Lone Star Camp, No. 1, American Indian Guards, tomorrow night, an address will be delivered to the members of the camp and their friends by Robert E. Knight on "How to Hustle."

Plans were adopted last night at a meeting of the Alexandria Motor Boat club for the new club house to be erected at the foot of Wolfe street, where the club recently built a marine railway. The building will be two stories in height, twenty-five by twenty-eight feet in size, and will contain club rooms, lockers, and bath rooms. The plans will be given out this week for bids, and as soon as possible a contract will be awarded for the construction. A report was received from the regatta committee, which indicated that the regatta, to be held on May 30, will have many entries from Washington boat owners.

Three hundred Odd Fellows from Alexandria and surrounding counties were present at the reception tendered last night to A. M. Southall, grand master of Odd Fellows of Virginia. The plans will be given out this week for bids, and as soon as possible a contract will be awarded for the construction. A report was received from the regatta committee, which indicated that the regatta, to be held on May 30, will have many entries from Washington boat owners.

After next Monday beef offered for sale in Alexandria must be inspected by the city health officers. The health committee has designated the slaughterhouse owned by Aaron Odell as the municipal abattoir, and beef must either be killed there under the supervision of city officials or bear the Federal inspection stamp.

Committees representing fifteen bodies of union men, several fraternal organizations and the chamber of commerce will appear before the finance and school committee of city council tonight and urge immediate action on the resolution providing for the erection of a new high school building.

A meeting of the Elks' Dancing Club will be held at the home Monday at 8 o'clock, when plans for the summer season will be made.

The Columbia Theater, has acquired and will continue the business.

Mr. Kocian opened the program with Tchaikovsky's concerto in D major, playing more with technical ease than any unusual interpretative ability. In this number, as in the fifth, which was "Hexentanz" by Paganini, and in the encore to the last named number, J. Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

The group of four other numbers, two by Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

The group of four other numbers, two by Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

The group of four other numbers, two by Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

The group of four other numbers, two by Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

The group of four other numbers, two by Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

The group of four other numbers, two by Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

The group of four other numbers, two by Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

The group of four other numbers, two by Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

The group of four other numbers, two by Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

The group of four other numbers, two by Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

The group of four other numbers, two by Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

The group of four other numbers, two by Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

The group of four other numbers, two by Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

The group of four other numbers, two by Kocian himself, one by Chopin, and one stirring Polonaise by Wieniawski, were performed with much greater insight as to form and color.

Mme. Macdonald's first number was Mozart's "Mozart's" while her other numbers were by J. Kocian, Paganini, Strauss, and Schumann, and a group of English songs. In the latter she was best received, giving as an encore to Cadman's "Land of Sky Blue Water" and a "Concealment." Harry Wheaton Howard read the accompanying words with great intelligence and sympathy.

WOMEN MARCH IN SUFFRAGE STRIKE

Socialist Leader Asserts That
375,000 Men Are Idle in Movement in Belgium.

BRUSSELS, April 17.—Emile Vandervelde, the Socialist leader, asserts that 375,000 men are now idle in the manhood suffrage strike, although this is a reduction of 25,000 from the estimate of strikers made by the Socialist leaders. Today, at Ghent, 8,000 women paraded the streets. They carried banners and sang revolutionary songs, but made no disorder.

At Antwerp the situation is bad. Work will be at a standstill before Sunday. It is estimated that there are approximately 1,300,000 workers in Belgium. Counting out the 25,000 idle workmen, this would leave nearly 1,000,000 at their posts.

Rebber Orchestra Gives
Its Annual Concert

The overture from von Suppe's "La Barbe-bleue" played for the first time here, and a new march played from manuscript, composed by G. J. Weber, formed the features of the program of the Rebber orchestra, under the direction of Henry W. Weber. Miss Florine Walker, soprano; Mrs. Arthur Butler Pierce, contralto; J. G. Klein, tenor; and Newton W. Hammer, bass, were the soloists. Arthur Butler Pierce gave a number of character impersonations, and W. Weber, son of the conductor, played the piano accompaniment.

The concert, held in Odd Fellows Hall last night, was well attended, and the numbers were enthusiastically received and heartily enjoyed. The best work of the orchestra was done in Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever," and "Two Movements in D Major." Other numbers were Lehar's "Gold and Silver" waltz and selections from "The Mikado." The new march by G. J. Weber made a hit. It is full of spirit and dash, and promises to be popular among bands during the coming season. Mr. Weber, who plays a viola in the orchestra, was called to the stand to conduct his composition.

President of China
Thanks Navy League

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

Thanks and wishes for "all property" are contained in a cablegram received today by the Navy League of the United States, from Yuan Shikai, President of the Chinese Republic. The message is in answer to a cablegram of congratulation and greeting sent by the Navy League recently on the occasion of the annual dinner of the organization.

ANACOSTIANS JOIN IN CLEAN-UP MOVE

Householders Give Attention to Premises, and Boy Scouts Aid in Campaign—John E. Fort to Take Circuit Pastor—ate—Other News of Vicinity.

WASHINGTON TIMES BUREAU, ANACOSTIA, D. C., APRIL 17.—Anacostia joined in the clean city movement in earnest today. The rains prevented an earlier start, but, judging from the reports received from policemen, members of Dr. Thomas D. Mudd's "clean-up" committee, the remainder of the week will be more than sufficient in which to complete the work.

Capt. W. T. Anderson, commander of the Eleventh precinct, and Police- man C. E. Brown, both committeemen, observed that sanitary conditions are better than a year ago. Hence, there is little material to be removed, the committee learned, so there will be no necessity for the sending of wagons here from the city for such work. Householders are giving attention to their premises. The Anacostia Boy Scouts are co-operating with Dr. Mudd's committee.

John E. Fort, who has been connected with church work in Methodist circles since boyhood, is about to resign his position in a Washington business house to accept an appointment as pastor of five Methodist Episcopal churches on the Laytonville, Montgomery county, Md., circuit.

He has been offered the post by the Baltimore annual conference of the M. E. Church, which he entered at a year ago at the suggestion of President W. W. Price. He has been the pastor of the two M. E. churches known as Concord and Northwest, the former near Glen Echo, the latter not far from Georgetown.

Mr. Fort's plans came as a surprise to his friends. He will remove from Anacostia with his family to assume his new duties about May 15.

The 1215 committee of the Public Improvement Association of Congress Heights, which was appointed over a year ago at the suggestion of President W. W. Price, in order that a series of improvements for the suburb might be completed by the end of the year 1915, has found that much of the program mapped out for it has been finished.

Among the projects to which the committee was assigned were the extension of the water and sewer systems of the city, the double-tracking of the Washington Railway and Electric Company, the extension of the gas mains, through street car service, the building of an

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Changes tendency toward disease to tendency toward health. No alcohol.

Sold for 60 years.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ask Your Doctor.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

KNIVES AFTER FISTS IN DUEL OVER GIRL

Youth Who Objected to Sister's
Sweetheart, Held Pending
Outcome of Battle.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 17.—After fighting a duel with his younger sister's sweetheart, to whose courtship he objected, William J. Rounds, Jr., was arraigned today in the police court and held to await Herbert E. Larner's recovery or death from his wounds. Larner received a dozen slashes from a pocket knife, and is believed to be dying at Cambridge Hospital.

The beginning of the duel had all the elements of old-fashioned romance. Rounds and his two sisters met Larner by appointment at dusk last evening in a sheltered hollow in the woods near Cambridge. The two sides (eighteen and Larner nineteen) took off their coats and, seconded by the girls, started to battle with bare fists.